

records manager

[rek-erds][man-i-jer] noun

The person who will save you from having to call your boss to tell them that you've lost that career defining report they requested. You know... The one you spent your evenings and weekends working on over the last month, but then hurriedly put somewhere in the cloud at 6pm on a Friday while thinking about margaritas on the patio, and as a result, have now spent three sweaty hours looking for it in your myriad of emails and the nastiest depths of file share hell, all while trying to fight back tears of desperation and shame, as you're dreaming up creative ways to disappear from existence.

Synonyms: miracle worker, magician, wizard, god, savior
